Terrific bunting which drove two Sherman pitchers to the bench and played havoc with a third, won the second game of the three-game series for Oklahoma City Tuesday. The Senators, aided by two errors, started to make up for their white-washing Monday, by putting two in the first. Allen, continuing his streak, got a hit first time up, and was followed by a blow from the manager's bat. Errors by Mathis and Nuckles let the two score. In the second, Eddins, in order to disappear, the last runs present, piled himself a home-run, adding it to the Senator's six.

The game was continued in the third. Denton was at bat, when Mathis, Hall and King staged Pete Kilduff's lived while King was taken out at second and then staged a double steal with Hall's hitting scoring. Eddins then delivered a blow which scored Kilduff. Hitting for Mathis, the Senators retired in order, to come back strong in the fifth.

General Moog collected a double, Denton singled, Hall poked a long triple to right, and King doubled, sending three men across the rubber. A double header followed from the proceedings. Younkman, taking his turn at bat, was followed by the manager's bat. He advanced to third on Hall's out and scored via the squeeze play. This was the fourth in retiring the next three men without a run being scored. In the sixth, Allen doubled, but his mates could not push him around. In order that Younkman should not get cheap, the Senators counted one in the seventh. Younkman living on Jason's error and squatting around. He advanced to third on Hall's out and scored via the squeeze play. This was the fifth.

Younkman was drenched at the end of the seventh to be used in Wednesday's first game. Paulson, who had been sitting during the eighth, Allen drew a pass off the plate and Maag got his second double of the game. Denton and Hall followed with singles, counting two for the Senators. Kilduff walked, but Eddins retired. Sorey to Mathis.

It was well that the Senators were pushing the pill to all corners of the lot. Errors and bunt-hits blazed out runs for the Hitlers during the two hours' contest. In the first, Sorey, stalled, Hulseman was safe on Herbert's error, Sorey going to third. Sorey then scored on Jason's sacrifice fly to King. Hulseman being caught trying to take second on the throw in. In the fourth, a pass to Sorey, Hulseman's two batters and Mathis' hit scored two.

In the seventh and the eighth the Hitlers counted three. In the seventh, Sorey, stalled, Hulseman was safe and Jason's hit had bettered man up had not one was safe enough to continue his run and Jason scored. In the next frame, Hulseman was safe on Jason's drive, while second and scored when King, who batted for Younkman, hit.

Younkman and Farlofth are slated to work the double bill for the team Wednesday, while Denton and Lakowski will probably be called on to start the Seniors. This will be the last appearance of the Hitlers until Parting Thursday for three games.
